- You can find Kokomo Winery right in the middle of Dry Creek Valley. Kokomo makes up to nine different varietals from Dry Creek, each one showcasing the unique qualities of the valley, but for Winter Wineland we turn our attention to Pinot Noir from our neighbors in the Russian River Valley. Join us for a unique tasting and cheese pairing highlighting just how different clones of Pinot Noir can be! We will feature two Pinot Noirs from the same vintage, vineyard and winemaker but from two unique clones – isolating the variable to the clone. The tasting starts with the lighter, more delicate 2A clone that shows the elegant Burgundian side of the varietal, then moves to the Pommard clone which is more intense in flavor and highlights the richer side. Both wines are from Peters Vineyard in southwest Sebastopol and are grown by Kokomo partner Randy Peters. This eye opening experience will show you just how different clones of the same varietal can be!

Let's face it, everyone knows all the wonderful culinary dishes that can be paired with wines. And that's what everyone always talks about. We're going to change all that. Well, maybe just add a little of the every day to it. You'd be surprised at how well every day foods can go toe-to-toe against Boeuf Bourguignon, Braised Veal Shank and Penne alla Puttanesca. So we're inviting all the residents and guests of Healdsburg to weigh in on the fight—a.k.a. broadening of horizons. Wine + fancy = expected. Wine + everyday = surprising.

Preston of Dry Creek is not your grandfather's winery. Founded 4 decades ago by Lou and Susan Preston--then with a singular mindset to grow wine--the 120 acre estate has morphed into a diverse organic farm with sheep, chickens, pigs, vegetables and grain, plus fruit, nut and olive orchards. Oh yeah, and the wines are even better than ever. The owners and winemaker Matt Norelli will be telling the sustainable story behind their wine and food products and serving tastes of home-grown brick-oven pizza accompanied by tastes of the just-released 2009 Barbera. The Prestons are an arty clan, as well, and Susan, Francesca and Maggie will be displaying and selling their unique creations.

- Artists Peter Crompton and his wife Robyn Spencer-Crompton have installed their large outdoor sculpture among the oaks and gardens overlooking the vineyards at Starlite Vineyards. The sculptors are often inspired by Roman and Greek Mythology. Peter and Robyn's works delight the senses with provocative interpretations of psyche and sensuality. Please join us for a stroll in the sculpture garden to view larger than life figures, busts and icons of gods and goddesses that you will find nestling in the grounds or towering overhead. In addition to the outdoor sculpture, smaller sculpture will also be on hand in the wine tasting-room for your viewing and purchase.

Let Twomey Cellars take you back to the "Old World" of winemaking with a demonstration of "soutirage traditional", a 19th century winemaking technique used by leading chateaux in Pomerol and St. Emilion. This unique style of winemaking gives our single-vineyard Merlot its silky texture and a pure expression of the aromas and flavors of this noble varietal. Older vintages of Merlot will be featured with Pumpkin and Sausage Arancini prepared by in-house Chef Dominic Orsini.
